

ELECTRIC RATE SCHEDULE RRP
Residential Responsive Pricing Service

APPLICABLE

In the territory served by the Company and falling in four meter reading routes selected by the Company for testing "smart meters" and customer reaction to responsive pricing.

AVAILABILITY OF SERVICE

RRP shall be available as an optional pilot program to single phase, single family residential service for three years and shall remain in effect until modified or terminated by order of the Commission.

- a) RRP is restricted to a maximum of one hundred (100) customers eligible for Rate RS in any year. The Company will notify all customers eligible for RRP and accept applications on a first-come-first-served basis.
- b) Not included in the RRP restriction of a maximum of one hundred (100) customers eligible on a first-come-first-served basis in any year, shall be approximately fifteen (15) General Electric Company ("GE") employees volunteering to test DSM equipment produced by GE and, at their option, being billed on RRP.
- c) No customers will be accepted on RRP following the end of the second year of the pilot program. A customer exiting the pilot program or disconnected for non-pay will not be allowed to return to it until the Commission has issued a decision on the pilot program report.
- d) Non customer-specific costs of modifying the Company's customer billing systems to accommodate RRP will be recovered through a charge per kWh billed to customers taking service under rates RS and GS.
- e) The Company will file a report on RRP with the Commission within six months after the first three years of implementation of the pilot program. Such report shall exclude the GE employees and will detail findings and recommendations.
- f) The Company will file with the Commission a separate report on the GE employees and attach it to the RRP report.
