SERVICE CONNECTION CHARGES

A. GENERAL

1. The term "Service Connection Charges" is used to define the non-refundable charge made for the establishment of a class of telephone service or subsequent additions to that service.
2. No distinction is made between a "New Installation" and an "Outside Move." All changes of subscribers' equipment or service from one premises to another are treated as new service connections with Service Connection Charges applying. (For definition of "Premises" see "Definitions" under General Rules and Regulations, Part I.) (T)
3. Service Connection Charges are in addition to any other schedules rates and charges normally applying under the tariffs. They apply in addition to and not in lieu of Mileage Charges, Installation Charges, or Construction Charges made because of unusual costs in establishing service.
4. Service Connection Charges may be payable at the time application is made for the particular service or facility, and prior to the establishment of service, or upon presentation of a bill. Service may be established in advance of payment in the case of Service Connection Charges for additions to the service of existing subscribers and in the case of any service for Departments, Administrations, and Agencies of the Federal, State, County, Township or Municipal Governments.

NETWORK INTERFACE

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION
OF KENTUCKY
EFFECTIVE

A. DEFINITION AND REQUIREMENTS

1. The NETWORK INTERFACE is the point of interconnection between the telephone company facilities (regulated) and the subscriber or customer's wiring (unregulated). The NETWORK INTERFACE and DEMARCATION POINT have same meaning. (N)

JAN 01 1987

PURSUANT TO 807 KAR 8.011
SECTION 9.1

BY: J. Geoghegan

2. In the absence of a distinct or definable network interface or demarcation point the station protector shall be defined as the network interface/demarcation point.

3. All Network interfaces installed after 1-1-87 will be installed in such a way as to allow easy access for customer performed trouble isolation. Normally this will be a RJ11 jack but could be any F.C.C. approved jack, this will be the telephone company's option as to type jack used.

4. Customers who report trouble with their service and a company employee isolates the trouble to the customer's side of the network interface, that customer will be billed the maintenance service call as shown in PART II sheet 9A of this tariff. When the company incorrectly identifies a service problem as being the customer's responsibility, then the company will reimburse the customer for any reasonable expenses incurred. The amount reimbursed will not exceed the amount of the maintenance of service call as shown in PART II 9A in this tariff. All claims must be in writing and accompanied by a copy of the bill provided by a company that is in the business of offering maintenance of inside wire service to the public.

5. The company will provide facilities to the first point (demarcation/network interface in or next to station protector) on the customer's premises which, in the judgment of the company, is suitable for the location of a network interface. The most economical route from existing network distribution facilities will generally determine the approach used in establishing the point-of-demarcation. The customer may designate an alternate approach route for the entrance facilities at additional charges on a per cost basis. Route selection and location of point-of-demarcation must be in compliance with the latest edition of the National Electric Code, F.C.C. Part 68 and regulations of this tariff.

6. Customers who had distinct and definable network interface installed before 1-1-87 may continue to use the interface at its present location until there is a need for the wiring to be changed or rearranged. (N)

7. To further define "suitable" as stated in PART II Sheet 11.1 A. 5 of this tariff. A "suitable" location for the protector/interface shall also mean outside the subscribers's buildings in an area where the telephone employees may enter at anytime to do testing or repair in the event no one is home. (N)
8. To further define "suitable" as stated in PART II Sheet 11.1 A. 5 of this tariff. If the subscriber's building fails to meet the requirements of B. (g) of this tariff (a pole is required) then "suitable" shall mean that the protector/interface will be attached to a pole. This pole shall be located in an area where the telephone employees may enter at anytime to do testing or repair in the event no one is home. (N)
9. In special cases, commercial buildings may seek an exemption from the outside location of the protector/interface, provided the following specifications are met. (a) The owner of the building provides conduit for the entrance cable from a point outside the building (this point being approved by the telephone company) to the housing (case) of the protector/interface. (b) The protector/interface to be located in an area set aside for this purpose. This area to be a safe place for telephone employees to work, free of exposure to chemicals, elevated electrical voltage, noise, etc... (c) Telephone employees must have free access to this area at anytime to do testing or repair. (d) The general public should not have access to this area.
10. After the initial installation of the protector/interface, should conditions at the location of the protector/interface change, such as the protector/interface or its unshielded supply wire being enclosed in new construction, should the area become unsafe for the telephone employees to work, telephone employees are being denied access, the use of the area around the protector/interface changes and the presence of the protector/interface could be a safety hazard to the building or to it's occupants, or the protector/interface itself could become damaged. The telephone company will move the protector/interface to a "suitable" location and bill the subscriber the appropriate charges as shown elsewhere in this tariff.
11. If a telephone company employee is dispatched to fill a service request or repair a trouble (and the subscriber is aware of the impending visit) and is denied access to the area where the protector/interface is located, the telephone company may bill the subscriber a premise visit charge as shown elsewhere in this tariff and no credit for interrupted service will be allowed. C. Service Options

1. At the request of the subscriber, certain options may be added to the access line for Public Telephone Service and will be billed at the approved tariff rate. All options must be compatible with the hardware and software in use by the existing telephone Company switching equipment.

a. Coin Supervision Additive Service

The Company will provide Coin Supervision Additive Service to PSPs who order Access Line Service for the provision of Public Telephone Service and where the Public Telephone equipment connected to the Access Line Service requires central office coin supervision capability.

Coin Supervision Additive Service provides the capability of central office line equipment to pass signals and/or tones from the Access Line Service to a trunk terminating at the PSP's operator service provider. These signals enable an operator service provider to recognize coin deposits. Coin Supervision Additive Service also permits a suitable equipped operator service provider to automatically ring back the originating access line upon completion of a call.

This option requires a special central office line card which differs from the standard access line card and will be provided where facilities exist. The Company's central offices are only equipped for semi-postpay supervision.

b. Public Telephone Screening / Blocking

Screening / Blocking for Public Telephone access lines includes Company provided services necessary to coordinate with operator connections or block subscribers from making specific types of calls. This service includes software translations done at the Company's facilities and also includes coordination between the Company and connecting Company databases.

A. GENERAL

1. In general, basic local exchange service is furnished for the exclusive use of the subscriber, and the subscriber's family, guests, employees, agents, or representatives. Resale of basic local exchange service is permitted only under the specific conditions described in this tariff.
2. The customer must apply in writing to resell exchange services provided by the Company. When in judgment of the Company it is deemed necessary, the reseller may be required to submit layout maps defining the intended geographic resale area and anticipated development plan in terms of new or existing buildings.
3. All rates and charges in connection with the resale operation and all repairs and rearrangements behind and including the reseller's communication system will be the responsibility of the reseller. The reseller will be the single point of contact for all shared tenant services provided in the resale service area. Tenants who choose to obtain service directly from the Company may subscribe to any local exchange service available.
4. Nothing in this tariff section impairs the Company's franchise or ability to operate in the state. This tariff is not intended, nor does it, enfranchise or certify the recipients of this service as a telecommunications company.
5. Shared Tenant Service should be permitted where facilities are available within continuous property areas under single ownership or within common developments with a single name identity, such as multi-tenant office buildings, apartment and condominium complexes, commercial malls, campus complexes, offices and industrial parks. "Single ownership" should be interpreted so as to mean not only an individual owner, but also ownership in the form of a corporation, joint venture, or partnership with a single name identity. "Continuous property" should be construed to mean property that is not intersected by property owned by other entities. Furthermore, continuous property can be intersected by public thoroughfares, railroads, and other public and private rights of way, provided that the property would be continuous in the absence of such intersections. Continuous property may straddle exchange boundaries. In such cases, the most economic exchange will be selected.
